Milestone discoveries are major discoveries such as the flame, music and dance, the first cinema, cooked food etc. So basically we know how it occurred – but not Einstone's version.

They live in an era where everything is free, but it's not easy. To get food you have to hunt. To play in the park you have to be wary of the predators. They live with dinosaurs, sabretooths, prehistoric venus man traps etc. No wonder they have to do something for their protection and survival. The tribe does things traditionally, but Einstone does it extremely awesome!

He doesn't hunt like the other kids but he enjoys playing and discovering things. Eventually these discoveries

Yes, let's say it was already there in the Stone Age. It's a perfect setting for it. Einstone invented the skateboard, scooter, BMX, rock/sand boarding, surfing, bungee jumping, para-sailing, etc. Life was boring before Einstone's time. He has something too, to get away from the predators, fast!! Anyway wheels already exist in this time.

This series will feature all of the extreme sports and milestone events that you know now, but with a twist (especially the designs).

It's a fun filled, adventure pumping with a touch of danger, thrilling animated series that takes us back to the time where it all began.
